Overview

Russia has targeted Ukraine's energy infrastructure during each winter of its full-scale invasion, which began in February 2022. But this winter's campaign has proved larger, more sustained and more effective, according to Ukrainian officials. On January 4, a heating main burst at the Klimovsk Specialized. In Redino, a village in the Moscow region, a worker lost his life while attempting to extinguish a vehicle fire. The incident was captured on video and circulated by a Telegram channel. Eight people were injured, with three requiring hospital treatment, the Tass state news agency reported, citing the Ministry of Emergency. THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Russian missiles and drones have pounded Ukraine's energy grid in recent weeks, plunging people into frozen darkness in one of the country's coldest winters on record.
