

Luanda demand response

Overview

The Luanda Accord, signed in July 2025 by the world's major diamond-producing nations, was meant to usher in a new era of collaborative promotion for natural diamonds – a structural commitment to dedicate 1% of rough sales to the Natural Diamond Council (NDC) starting in 2026. In the glittering yet precarious world of diamond marketing, where every facet of funding can make or break a billion-dollar narrative, a five-month delay in the release of promised resources has turned what should be a season of sparkling campaigns into one of simmering. Luanda's recent crackdown on dissent is raising regional alarm across Southern Africa. What began in Angola at the end of July as a desperate protest by taxi drivers against the sharp rise in fuel prices and transport fares soon escalated into a crisis with far-reaching consequences for the entire.
